A front view of Miami Coral Park

Why is this year different from all other years? This is my year, this is your year, this is our year. It's the best ever. It's here. It's now. We are taking advantage. Now is when we look, feel, act, achieve and participate — THE BEST!

Steve Barino, John Manzione, Julio Fernandez, Dale Nesmith, Carmine Brutto vividly express their feelings about being a number #1 Junior Varsity football team. You could always find a rowdy and crazy group of Coral Park students to take pictures of.

A little confused as to where he should be, Robert DeCoste demonstrates his craziness. Robert visits the male restroom in his Halloween disguise on October 18.

After spending the day surfing, Craig Hatton carries his surf board from the water's edge to the sand at Cradon Park Beach. Physical activities keep students looking good.

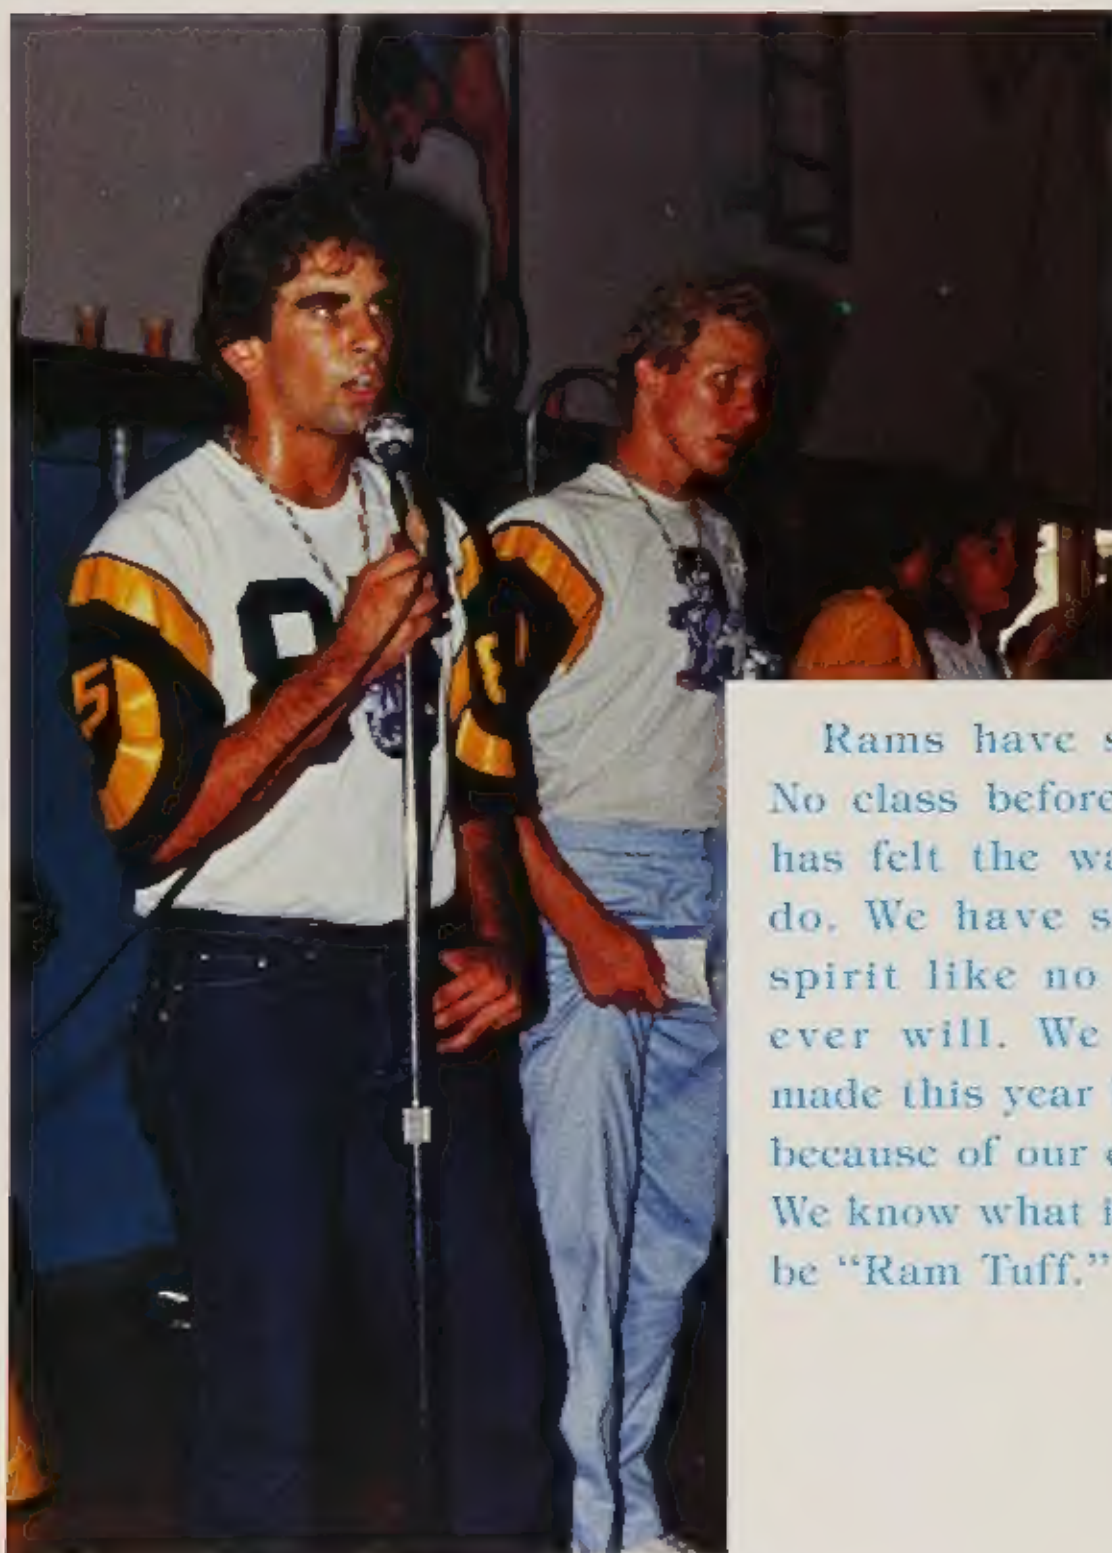

Randy Perkins gazes intently out the window. Unlike adults, students have time to sit back and daydream.

Varsity player Carlos Tamayo lifts his helmet with pride. He shows the crowd that he is "Ram Tuff".

Senior line backer Eddy Hernandez takes the microphone to get the crowd fired up. Randy Perkins waits for his turn.

Rams have spirit. No class before ours has felt the way we do. We have shown spirit like no class ever will. We have made this year better because of our effort. We know what it is to be "Ram Tuff."

Rick Amador, Coral Park's first male cheerleader, tries to initiate spirit from the crowd.

Coral Park's fans display true loyalty to their school as they cheer their team on in the pouring rain.

Early in the season, Gus Taylor, an energetic cross country runner, runs swiftly at Tropical Park.

EVER

Now is the time when we are at the peak of physical fitness. We are in shape. We are healthy, active, and looking the best we ever will.

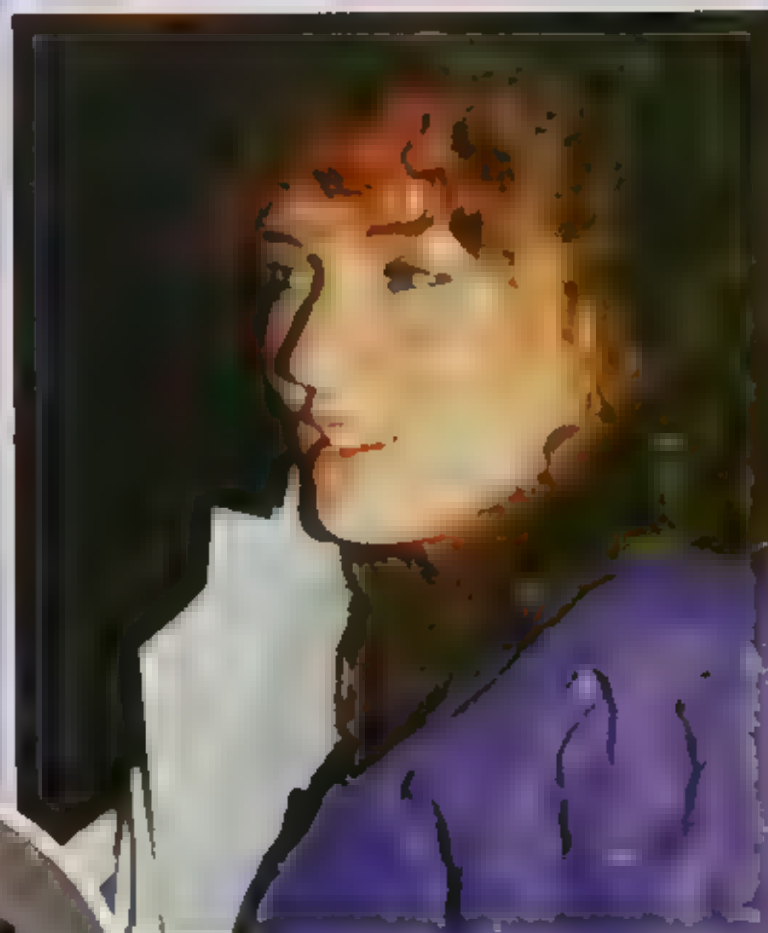

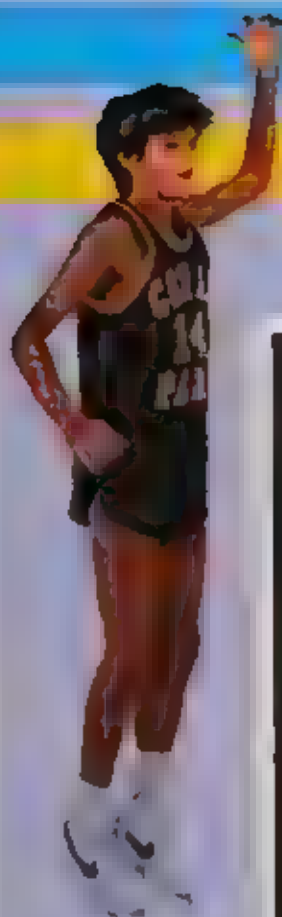

Looking good together, Renae Poly and Angie Garcia practice baton routines after school for an upcoming football game. People involved with health and exercise are common sights among Coral Park students. They practice at least one hour everyday.

- A—Craig Hutton, Ana Marie Yoham and Julie Yoham sun bathe at Cradon Park Beach. The beach was certainly one place that C P students met to socialize.
- B—Marta Martinez and A. Perez walk hand in hand while leaving school. The evolving friendships in Coral Park are special, and perhaps everlasting too.
- C—Socializing is a great part of our lives and school is where it starts. Veronica Aguilre and Eriene Hernandez enjoy a few minutes socializing between classes.
- D—Coral Park students always found time to say a few words with their friends. Leonardo Gonzalez and Tomas Valdes chat in the middle of the parking lot.
- E—“Where are you going after the game?” was a question frequently asked in school by students. After the game, Andy Molina is at Godfathers Pizza waiting for his order.

Let Yourself

GO

We have a great social life. School is where it starts. We begin dating, have parties, school dances, and football games. There is no stopping. The fun is ours.

Lillian Tarafa stretches out in the hall to devote her time to studying for an upcoming test

Victor Contreras, Alex Rodriguez, and Becky Costa hang out by the lockers to discuss possible questions for their upcoming test.

Cindy Fernandez and Eric Hoylink use the dictionary in the library as a reference. Our library encourages students to use this type of resource source.

Jose Zavabuzan devotes his time and artistic skills to drawing and painting murals for the activities display case.

Robert Rivero explains a mathematics problem to Lucy Leimen. Studying together is helpful to many students.

WHEN YOU'VE

Let yourself go!
Now is the time when we can relax and be carefree. It is here it's now! It is our chance to do the crazy things that adults
never do.

Senior Debbie Feinstock, who will do anything for a picture attempts the crazy stunt of placing her head in the trash can.

After many attempts, Ana Canino finally catches the apple and takes a big bite. Halloween Happenings gave Coral Park students a chance to be crazy.

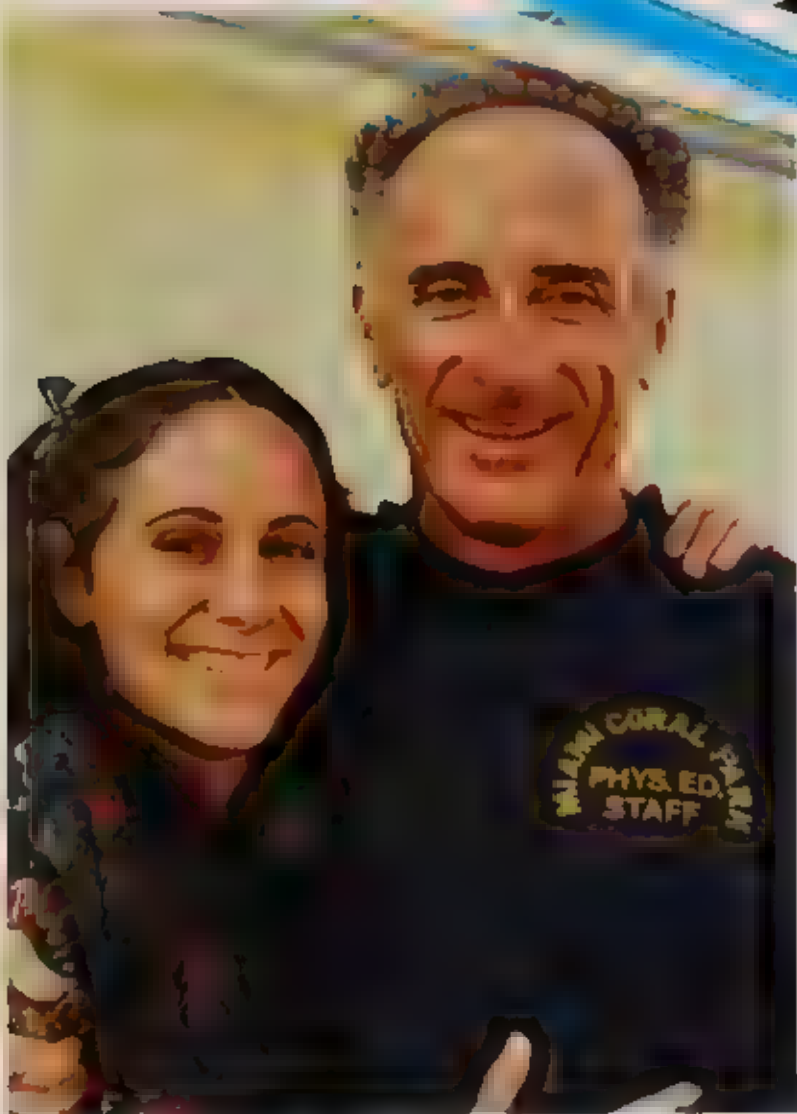

Heidi Marino, Donna Adams, Vivian Suarez go wild after the South Dade football game. Students always come back to the school parking lot to have a crazy time.

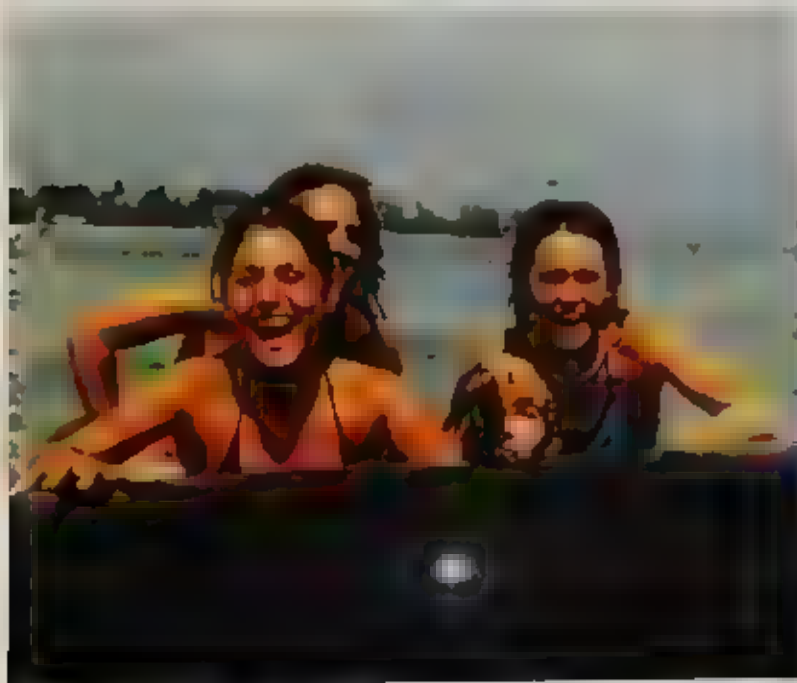

Sam Fistel talks to his gingerale and waits for an answer. Evelyn Jacobson is waiting for her drink to be poured and wonders what Sam is up to now. Coral Parkers will do anything for a laugh.

GOT THE TIME

Lori Guardagno and Coach Don Holder are the happy pair. They smile with a carefree look and show the great student-teacher relationship that Coral Park has.

Martha Gonzalez, Isabel Penate, Mike Perez and Ada Larrazabal ride the waves in their inner tubes at Crandon Park Beach.

Peter Kiliddjian and Jorge Molina stomp grapes at the Campus Life burger bash. They're just two wild and crazy guys.

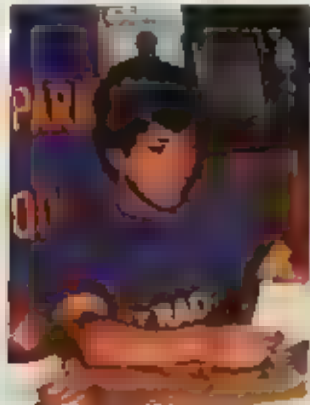

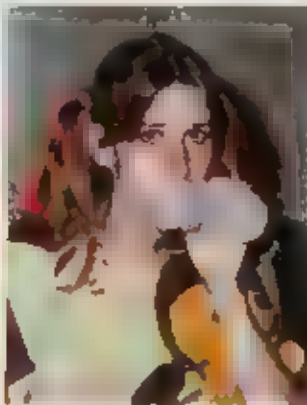

Anatomy and Physiology club members Edward Devazona, Luis Rodriguez, Eric Hovtink, Jeffrey Johnson, Henry Avila, and Luisa Sloan work at their booth on club day

Be All That You Can Be...

On club day Cagrette's booth attracts Debbie Felinstock, Marten Munn, Katie Ansley, Gaby Hasbun, Fernando Casadevall, Claudio Saes, Juann Oropeza, Ricky Donoghue, Olga Gutierrez, and Elito Alonso.

Teens are involved
We belong to clubs,
raise funds, and play sports. We participate in activities outside school and inside
When will we ever be more involved than now?

Involved in after school activity, Ricardo Estape measures the area he is going to decorate. As president of Math Honor, he is in charge of decorating the display case.

Larry Baskow, a junior varsity football player, prepares for his after school practice. Larry is one of the many involved in after school sports.

Senior Board of '82.

Ana Diaz, class president, jokes around with cabinet member, Ada Larrazabal. Ada grins and bears it.

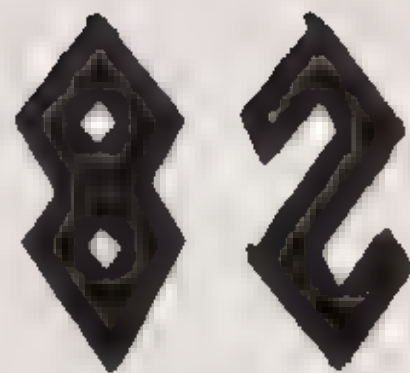

Ana Diaz, Senior Board president, receives instructions for the next play from senior coach Randy Perkins during the Powder Puff football game.

Ms. Eade measures Heidi Marino's head with a tape measure so she can order her cap for graduation day. All seniors must order their cap and gowns in the correct size before graduating.

Kristle Madara takes down notes to report to her homeroom the upcoming events.

Ana Diaz, Debbie Feinstock, Vivian Suarez, Kristle Madara, Cindy Krischer, Oscar Montoto and Juan Carlos Perez.

The time has come to reflect on past accomplishments and accept the challenges of the future. Our class has proven throughout this year its strength and enthusiasm. We have had to bear penalties for the mistakes of past classes, yet this has only served to strengthen our character. We have dared to influence our school by introducing to it new activities and beliefs.

To the Senior Class of 1982, this year will be a treasured one, for we learned to take pride in our accomplishments, and school. We thank Coral Park for its help in our development as individuals. To the world, "Look out we're coming through".

Michael's friends have been very influential in his hobby. They used to take him surfing whenever it was possible. Now Mike surfs at least three times a week, sometimes, more if he has the time.

"Surfing gives me a feeling of freedom, a bond between me and nature's gift," said Michael when asked why he chose surfing as a sport. "There's a real challenge and I try my best to improve on every wave."

In the past summer, she participated in the Community Lab Research Program working in a laboratory at least three days a week. Danny Greisel spent most of his time during the summer perfecting his band, Meddlehex. After forming the group at the end of last year, Danny and his band began what would become many hard, long hours of practice.

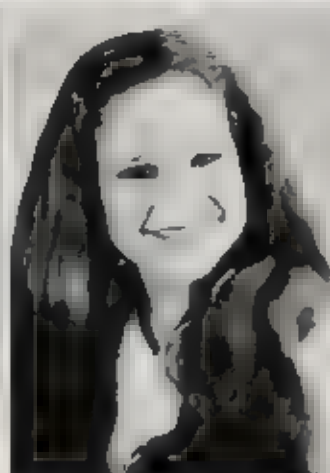

But it all payed off, and they soon began playing at various parties. Danny has participated in concert chorus and chamber singers. During the summer, he accompanied the chorus on his bass guitar for a performance at an elementary school. In addition, they performed for the Ronald McDonald House at Coral Park's neighborhood McDonald's to raise money for charity.

Three Coral Park students, Manny Cereijo, Beatrice Urrutia, and Franklin Elsea, were participants in a program for outstanding high school students at Florida International University this summer. They applied for and received a full scholarship for the summer term, plus money for tuition and books. Each scholarship recipient was required to take a research class entitled Modes of Inquiry. The class taught students techniques for researching material needed for term papers

The students also enrolled in an additional class of their own choice, from any of the many classes that F.I.U. was offering. The students received six semester credits as well as a sense of what college will be like for them

Vivian Suarez's main interest of study is fashion. She graduated from Reflections School of Modeling in her sophomore year. Modeling, as glamorous as it may seem, takes many hours of work and concentration. Her course included various techniques in applying make-up, run-way modeling, diet and skin care.

In her junior year, Vivian tried out for the Burdines Fashion Teenboard, and she made it. They put on fashion shows and do a lot of community work. For her, modeling is only a part time thing. It is a great way to make money and meet interesting people. She plans to study fashion merchandising.

John Laffitte has a very strong interest in astronomy. His interest began when he was in the seventh grade. Before he knew it, he was in the habit of collecting and researching astronomical data. Soon after, he was given a telescope which further expanded his curiosity and soon he was designing one of his own. With the help of his mathematical and scientific knowledge, he was able to finish it. Since then he has become a member of the Southern Cross Astronomical Observatory and will continue to help promote astronomy in every aspect he can.

Kirk Chung is a very enthusiastic person when it comes to electronics, as seen by his past experiences. Kirk's knowledge of electronics and hi-fidelity has also been shown by a certificate issued to him by the Institute of Hi-fidelity and he is also a very good computer programmer. "Student Council provides a chance for people to meet and learn from each other," said Bibi Pardo.

"It provides a chance for students to speak up for themselves," commented Maluli Ochoa, representative

Student Council did well this past year as far as participation went. More students were active this year than in the past. Homecoming, Halloween Happenings, United Way and Rebound just to name a few events sponsored by Student Council were successes and spirit boosters.

Everyone was affected by Student Council directly or indirectly. Being the most known organization in the school, it provided an outlet for the student body through participation in different activities. Interestingly enough, the more the students became involved in school related events, the more they felt closer to Coral Park

Inter-Club Council consisted of the union of all Coral Park club presidents. The club's purpose was to make the organization and operation of clubs as efficient as possible by promoting a close relationship between club presidents.

With the purpose of encouraging school spirit, I.C.C. sponsored Club Day in September. Clubs set up booths in order to attract students to join their club. In October, I.C.C. was responsible for Halloween Happenings. The success and organization of the Homecoming Parade was also due to the hard work accomplished by I.C.C. members.

"Getting students involved is as important as teaching them the three branches of the government because that is what government is, getting involved," stated Miss Hirigoyen.

Close-Up was a club which took an indepth study of our federal, state, and local governments in action. In order to do this the club became involved in community activities such as the Crime Watch program. The club took the initiative in organizing a Crime Watch program in school by rounding up support and by informing students through newsletters. Close-Up also sponsored a voter-citizenship drive to register eligible voters. Even so, the highlight of the course was a one-week trip to Washington D.C. . During this week students attended government seminars, met with important officials, and did some sightseeing

Club members often went to Tropical Park and drew creative and interesting pictures. They also painted murals on the cafeteria walls to beautify the cafeteria's surroundings. Art members enjoyed learning and experiencing new techniques in drawing

"Being in French Club, you can learn about the French culture with your friends and have fun at the same time," commented Enrique Delcastillo.

The French Club with the help of its sponsor, Mrs. Kellogg enjoyed a year of success and enthusiasm. The club started out the year with a large improvement over the previous year in membership. Members participated in Club Day, language picnics, Halloween Happenings, they entered a float in the homecoming parade, and at Christmas held a Christmas party to help underprivileged children.

The purpose of the French Club was to introduce a bit of French culture to students at Coral Park, a task that they diligently strove for throughout the year.

Peer Counseling had a very successful year. Peer Counseling participated when Switchboard of Miami, Inc., held a seminar of crisis intervention. The seminar focused on the areas of runaway prevention, drug abuse counseling, and communications skills. The group believed that their efforts were needed in today's world, and also that they could really make a positive difference in the lives of others. Other community agencies throughout the year also provided meetings where peer counselors could listen.

"Working for Muscular Dystrophy and other organizations was worth all the extra time," said Margaret Haley Civinettes is a club that is known for its desire to help. Among the companies and organizations familiar with "Civs" work are the Heart Association, Girl Scouts, United Way, Youth and Family Development, Muscular Dystrophy and the Association for Retarded Citizens. They went to the Special Olympics and became the cheering section. Civinettes gave $50.00 for the United Way. Most people know that the posters, banners, and of course jinx dolls are their work.

Participating in activities such as the March of Dimes Walkathon, Dante Fascell's Memorial Day Picnic, after-school house and anything else they could come up with, was what they were all about. Italian Interest was organized in order to provide an awareness of the Italian culture and way of life. By involving its members in such activities as the Homecoming Parade where they dressed up in togas and later on several fund-raisers the members gained a sense of purpose and accomplishment.

With the help of its sponsor Mrs. Cromier, Italian was responsible for another successful year in aiding the community and helping to encourage school spirit. The members raised money by selling concessions during December. Italian ended the year with their annual banquet.

In addition to their own projects, Science Honor members also helped other students to prepare their projects for the Fair. "This is one of the first clubs to make service mandatory and although at first most of the members objected; it has made the club stronger," stated member Franklin Elsea.

"The convention was a great success due to the hard work of the Math Honor members and our sponsor Frank Caballero," said President Rickv Estape.

Math honor maintained the high level of respect that they have acquired through their services to the school. The club spent their own time after school tutoring those students who need help in mathematics; they also hosted the Florida Math Honor Society convention in February. Schools from all over the states participated. Tests and competitions were held during the convention.

In addition they continued to sponsor the Florida Math League test, where students in calculus and math analysis took monthly tests to determine their proficiency in the subject. The tests helped to foster interest in the subject and exposed the student to many interesting problems.

STUDENT LIFE

Did you ever think about what your children will be saving twenty years from now about our efforts to remain in vogue? From punk-rockers to preppies, they've all had their place here at Coral Park

Besides trendy clothes there was a lot to watch for; When have you ever gone through a class without having the teacher tell someone to put away their Rubik's Cube and get back to work, or have you ever looked into the parking lot and not seen a Z-28? Probably not. We've seen many things come and go but the only thing we can be sure of is that new fads will never stop coming.

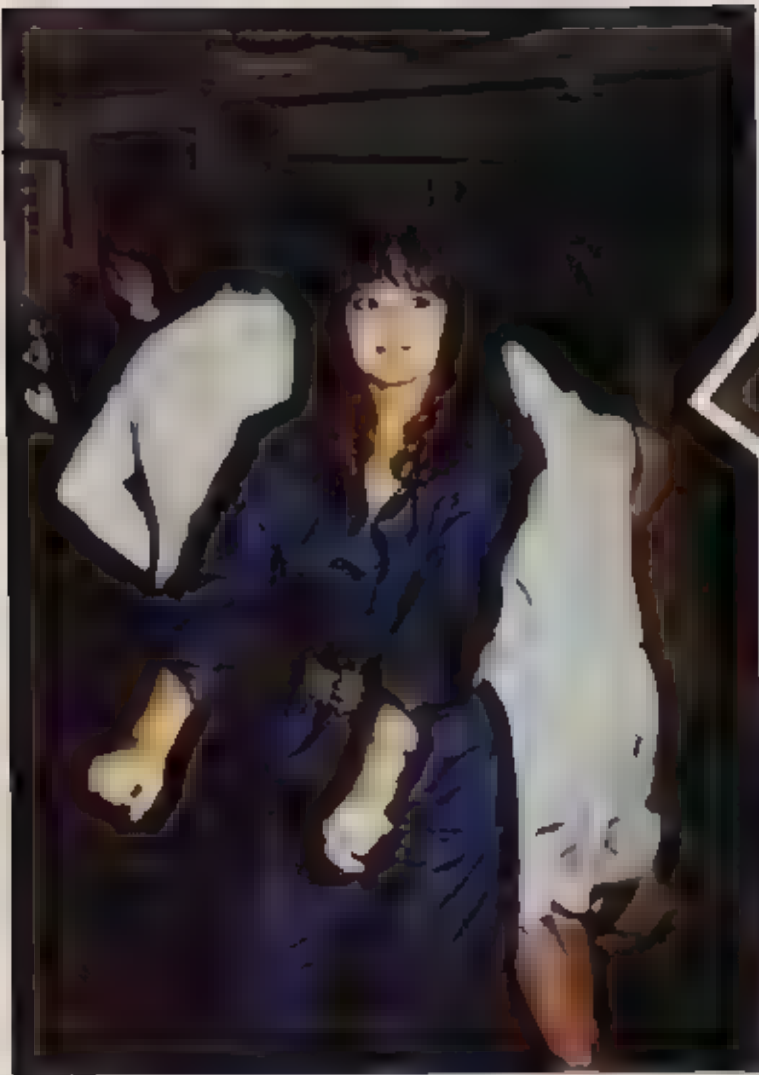

Marlen Jimenez and Leonel Hevia display the "preppy look." Bermuda shorts, top siders, and Polo shirts were all used to depict this style.

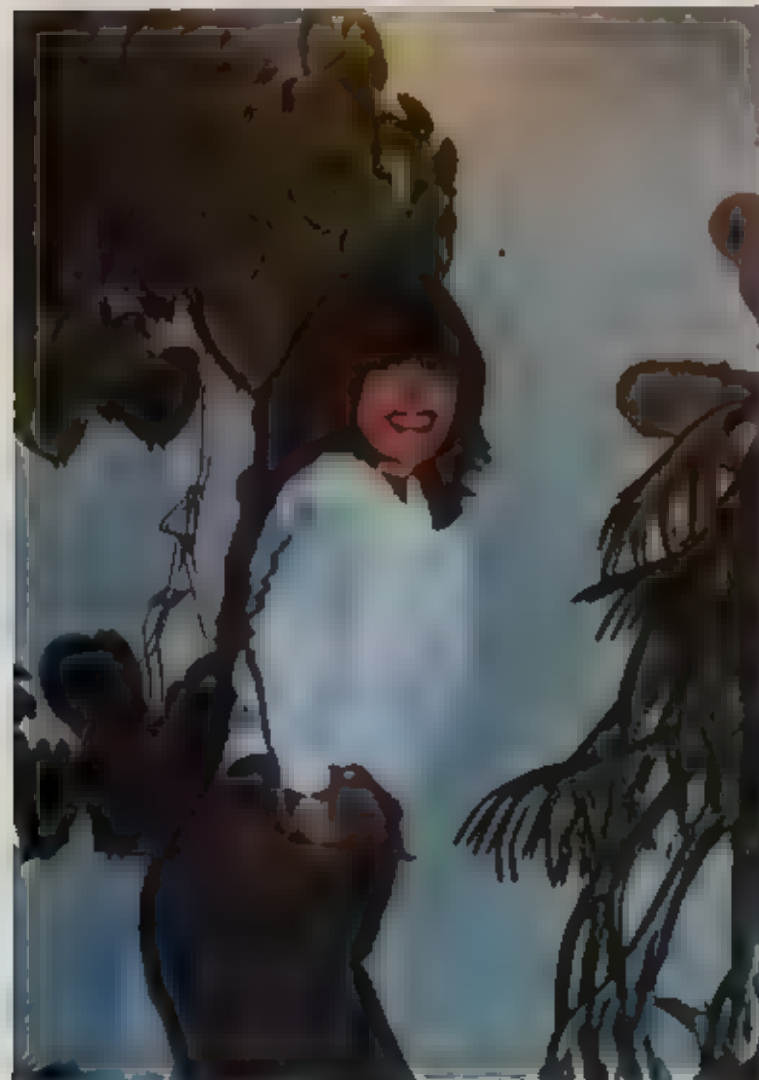

The spirit of punk rock still lives at Coral Park. Marydell Guevara and Maria De Miguel present their punk-rocker best.

THE BRAVA LOOK

Designer jeans and dressy blouses are the most common fashion at Coral Park. Carmen Fadruga demonstrates the "Brooke Shields look."

What are you doing this weekend? Walk in the halls any Friday afternoon after school and you will soon find that once the bell rings the only impending crisis on Coral Park students is what to do during those three short nights of luxury. Students turn in their school clothes for party clothes and rock the town. Some of the spots where Coral Parkers frequented were Faces in the Grove, Tomatoes Raffles, Fridays, and Swensons.

"I enjoy going to the Grove with my friends, wandering through the shops and just having a blast. It makes me forget about the dreaded other five days of the week," commented senior Vivian Suarez

Susan Perkins and Eddy Hernandez slash their subs at Blimpies. Most people went out after football games

Following the Homecoming Dance, Melanie Dernts and Glen Silver are about to enter into the disco-restaurant Rainbows, for a night of dining and dancing

Christy Illamas contemplates whether or not to have that second sub-sandwich at Blimpies

After football games, it is a Coral Park custom to go back to the school parking lot. Luis Landrian, Jorge Molina, and Ana Garcia talk about the high points of the evening

Robert Casas, Charlie De la Hoz, John Kiliddjian, George Brito, and Fernando Paz hover over their long-awaited pizza at Godfathers

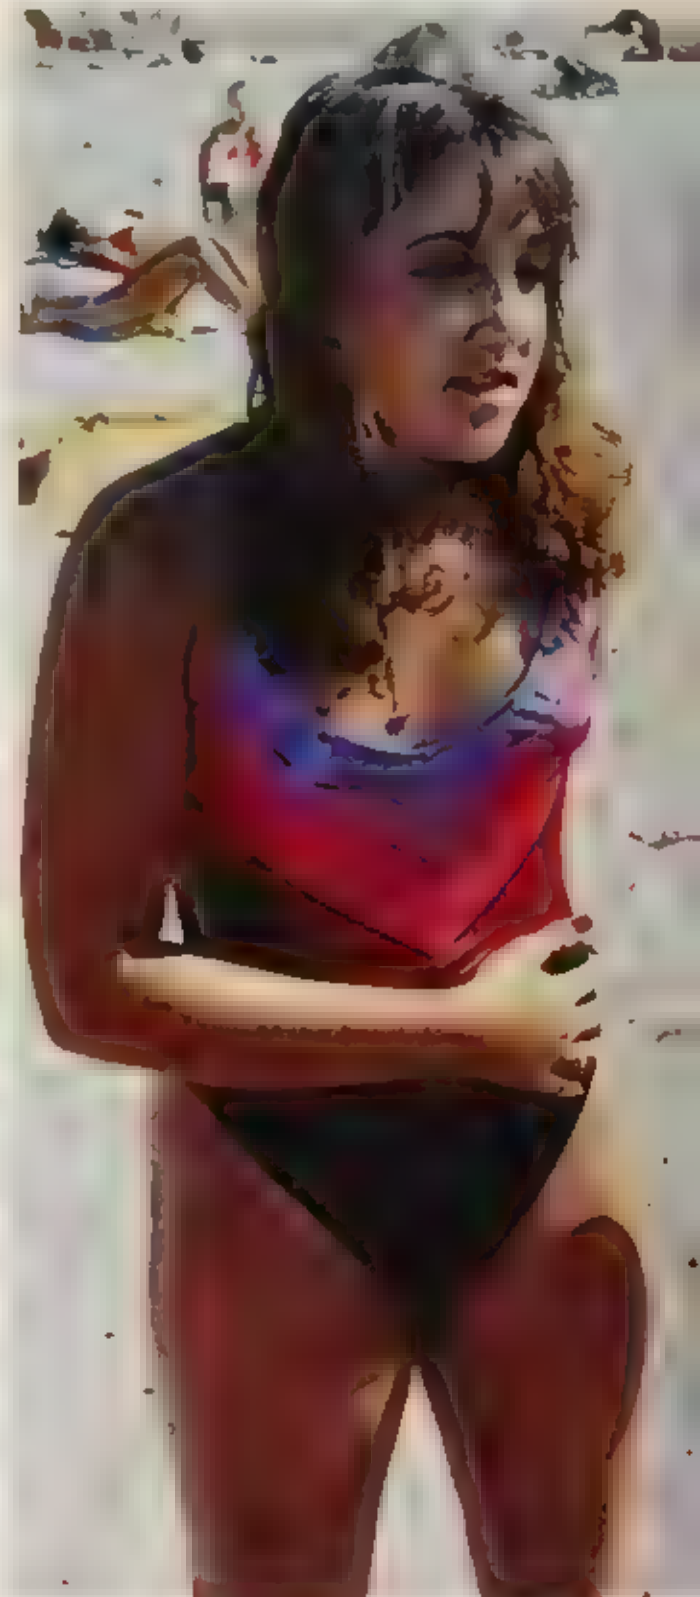

What is it that you look forward to every sunny weekend that passes? If you're like most, your hopes are probably on getting all your friends together, hopping into the nearest car and heading towards Crandon's Lot 2, or one of the many other beaches Miami is endowed with. It seems that the only thought that passes through a Coral Parker's mind past 2:15 on a Friday afternoon is to tan your body. "The best part about going to the beach is to come to school the following Monday and compare tans with everyone you saw," stated senior Irene Torres.

Michelle Weinfeld often enjoys the beach as an escape from the headaches of school.

Fun in the Sun

Mircha Guevara is showing her implements for achieving a perfectly bronzed tan.

VACATION

How would you describe a pep rally? Some say it's a sweat box, but the majority of the students feel it's forty-five minutes of shouting, cheering, and listening to the band.

We have had more pep rallies than ever this year to help build Coral Park's spirit in the student body.

On September 11, 1981, the first pep rally was held for the game against Coral Park's arch rival, Southwest.

All students participated in the cheers and chants.

"It's a privilege for all students to attend pep rallies, and I especially enjoy seeing all the students participating", stated Adri Martinez, captain of the Varsity Cheerleading squad.

Rampages are an important part of pep rallies. They dance and generate energy throughout the crowd. Here is Miriam Menendez caught in one of the Rampages many dance moves.

Rick Amador leads the crowd in a rousing cheer. Cheerleaders are often used to pep up the crowd and amplify the cheers so everyone can hear them clearly.

Football players Humberto Perez, Francisco Tellechea, and Calvin Camejo join in singing the Alma Mater.

Cheerleaders are an important part of pep rallies because they help bring out school spirit. Tammy Barfield sings the Alma Mater during the Miami High pep rally.

CATCH THE SPIRIT

"Imagine" — was the theme of the 1982 Homecoming Dance which was held at the Coconut Grove Hotel in November. The Homecoming Court were: Princesses Laura Souto, Christy Llamas, Maty Montfort, Norma Blanco, Renee Poly, Dawn Alba, Terry Coffman, Heidi Marino, and Queen Kelly Yessman

The dance was followed at school with a Spirit Week in which there were dress up days, mystery puzzles, and a color day. With the conclusion of the homecoming event came the traditional parade and Homecoming Game against Miami High. To add to the excitement and fun of the Homecoming, the Coral Park football team beat Miami High by a score of 17-14

The most treasured thirty-five minutes of the school day has unanimously been identified as lunch break. During this time students have a chance to reflect upon the happenings of the day with their friends and eat lunch, and hopefully make it back to class without being late.

"If it weren't for lunchtime I don't know how I could get through the day. It's really something that keeps you going," stated junior Jael Ravelo

Whether it's at Pizza Oven, McDonald's, Burger King, or wherever, lunchtime had to have been the best part of the day.

Many students spent their lunch sitting on the lawn. Raul Mesa and Karina Salazar share these moments of the day

Jose Alfonso prepares to devour his hot fudge sundae during his lunch break at McDonald's

A favorite spot for lunch amongst Coral Park students because of it's closeness and low prices was Pizza Oven. Inel Ruvelo bites into a fresh slice of pizza during her lunchtime.

Christy White smiles as she enjoys her cafeteria lunch. The cafeteria was the most popular place to eat.

Joanna Lora and Gloria Gonzalez giggle over a discussion they were having while enjoying their bountiful feast from Burger King.

The Arleon staff has always tried to achieve a level of excellence in the production of their book. Although the techniques for producing a yearbook are the same, the staff changes from year to year as so do the editors. "I hope our book this year will do as well in state competition as Coral Park's other yearbooks have done in the past," stated Cindy Krischer, Co-editor.

The staff, this year, went out of their way to much expense to produce some special effects never seen before in other previous yearbooks. "Many special effects were added this year. They are very expensive and I hope students will enjoy them," said Gerald Stone, staff advisor

Other students also had the privilege of attending a Columbia Press convention held in New York City. ## History of ghoulish fun continues

by a local
Rampage staff writer

The history of ghoulish fun has been a part of our lives since the beginning of time. It is a tradition that has been passed down from generation to generation. In the past, people would tell scary stories to each other to keep them awake at night. Today, we have movies, books, and even theme parks dedicated to ghoulish fun. The history of ghoulish fun is a long and interesting one. It has been a part of our lives for as long as we have been able to tell stories. The history of ghoulish fun is a long and interesting one. The Rampage published a special April Fool's Issue in which sophomores Andrea Dick and Betsy Goldin served as editors. A senior issue was published with Melanie Dornis assuming the editorial duties. Four members attended the Florida Scholastic Press convention in Orlando and Frank Elsea attended the Columbia Scholastic Press convention in New York City.

We Got Spirit

Coral Park's spirit and pride is built by its cheerleaders. They give enthusiasm to the crowd and help liven up the student body.

"Cheerleading has given me the opportunity to take part in promoting our school's spirit. Being a cheerleader demonstrates the pride I have for my school," stated Karen Clar, J.V. cheerleader.

The squad practiced everyday. They cheered at pep rallies, football, basketball, and volleyball games. All cheerleaders were expected to maintain a 2.5 overall grade point average throughout the school year.

Junior Varsity cheerleaders were responsible for selling programs at Varsity football games. The money they earned went toward new uniforms.

The Varsity cheerleaders put forth a great effort to promote spirit at Coral Park. The squad consisted of seven cheerleaders. They cheered at football, basketball, volleyball games and pep rallies. The girls attended cheerleading camp at the University of Miami during the summer to learn new cheers.

They had car washes, pom-pom sales, and sold programs at football games to earn money for new uniforms and their annual banquet at the end of the school year.

For the first time ever, Coral Park had a male cheerleader, Rick Amador. "Not only did Rick promote spirit with us, he aided us in difficult stunts, for example, the flying eagle and the swan press," said Heidi Marino, varsity cheerleader.

Sports Auxiliary Units were groups formed to promote spirit for their respective players. Batgirls sold donuts this year to raise money to buy the players new shirts. In addition, they sponsored the atomic egg drop for the Halloween Happenings Booth. "Batgirls has opened a lot of new relationships. It has also taught me a lot about baseball," stated Yamila Ali, a batgirl. Cagerettes faithfully took statistics for the basketball teams and raised funds in various ways such as carwashes, and their dunking booth at Halloween Happenings. Trackettes and Wrestlettes accompanied the teams to all their matches and kept scores and initiated enthusiasm for their teams.

Drama students have experienced creativity through pantomimes, improvisations, monologues, play-acting, and original play-writing. In the District Play Conference, Lee Weinreb was awarded "All Star Cast" rating for "Porch." In November, students wrote and acted in a play for the Florida Historical Society's Harvest Festival. In December's Thespian Conference these students qualified for the State Thespian Conference in April. Lee Weinreb and Aimee Espinosa for monologues; Riad Ghalayini and Arsenio Arabitg in dance; in pantomime, Arsenio Arabitg. James Moss wrote an original comedy, "Teacher's Lounge" which was entered in this play competition. Performing Modern Dance displayed great versatility becoming both performing dancers and excellent salesmen. Fundraising was necessary in order to afford their annual tour of Orlando area high schools.

"The Christmas show and the spring show helped to fund the Orlando trip," said Carlos Fernandez, Modern Dance President. These two shows were the goals of each Performing Modern Dance member. Preparation for the shows was intense, with each person spending a number of hours each week perfecting their dances. "Yes, it definitely was a great deal of time and hard work but it was worth it. “We must band together to orchestrate for a better tomorrow,” that was the motto of Coral Park’s Marching Blue and Gold that drove them to a successful and busy year. In the midst of doing their regular activities such as half-time shows, pep rallies, and concerts, the band had a year end goal to raise enough money for all members to go to the Worlds Fair held in Knoxville, Tenn. The band also had the privilege of taking part in a Chevrolet television commercial in January. All in all, the members of the band worked hard but had an enjoyable year filled with many activities. “I’ve been in band for three years and it was a lot of hard work. It took 90% perspiration and 10% inspiration, but it paid off,” commented Senior Maria Castillo

The strict qualifications for the Band Auxiliary Units made these girls one of the most hard working organizations in Coral Park. With the leadership of Captain Blanca Lolo, the Rampages, a dance and drill team, learned and perfected many routines which were an essential part of the band. The strong baton twirling skill of Angie Garcia added color and life to each performance. The Arleionettes led by Eileen Chavez used flags to add dimension to the band. The Band Auxiliary Units had the privilege to take part in a Chevrolet television commercial in January. "Being a Rampage has been the highlight of my years at Coral Park," commented Senior Alicia Solar.

“The atmosphere in Orchestra is more serious than in Band, we have worked more on the individual needs of the members than anything else,” stated Vanessa Dieckmann, President of Orchestra. They had a very successful Christmas Concert in December. Through diligence and versatility the Orchestra proved its worthiness this year.

Chamber Singers, whose t-shirts proclaim them as "Coral Park's Ultimate Sound", participated in many activities throughout the year. They sponsored car-washes to pay for their equipment, and sold snowcones after school to raise funds. Under the direction of Phil Valente, the Chamber Singers performed at this year's Renaissance Fair at Viscaya, January thirtieth and thirty-first. The group dressed up to fit the Renaissance period and sang Madrigals in many of the different languages of Europe. Chorus met second, third, and fourth periods this year with a boy's chorus, girl's chorus, and the combined concert chorus. They performed at elementary schools and junior-high schools throughout the year. They also sang at in-class performances where they invited other classes in to rate their performance and prepare them for an audience. Perhaps their finest performance of the year was the Christmas show in December. Members of these groups worked hard and developed strong dedication with their end result. "Chorus is a great way to learn self-discipline and to learn to work with others," said Stacy Conway, a member of Concert Chorus.

Our job is to get sophomores involved in the transition from junior high to high school. Most importantly, we want to make sophomores feel that Coral Park is their school now, it is not given to them in their senior year

Sophomore Board stressed participation in school activities in order to counter last year's case of apathy. Sophomores had a float in the Homecoming Parade. They also co-sponsored the senior/underclassman Powder Puff Game. But most important sophomore board came out with a class of "84" t-shirt. They were the first sophomore class to do that in a while

As Gabby Hushurn prepares to serve the birdie, Luisa Fernandez anxiously awaits the return of the serve

Jorge Molina anxiously, but with confidence, prepares to return the serve to his opponent from South West

Contrary to what people may believe, Badminton is not as easy as it looks. The sport is fast-paced and aggressive "The most important aspect of Badminton is the quickness," stated Abe Rodriguez.

"We had a very strong team, most of our players are returning for a second year," stated Senior Emma Grau. This year the team had 50 players trying out. This is twice as many students that had tried out for the sixteen positions on the team last year

"The team had two advantages this year. One of them was that most of our games were played at home and another was that we were really enthusiastic about the season," stated player Carmen Perea.

Ms. Fran King quickly gives Abe Rodriguez a few pointers on how to proceed his forehand before the match

J.V. baseball matures individual self-confidence

The 1982 Junior Varsity Baseball team opened their season with a win against Jackson High School. This year's team was coached by Mr. Osvaldo Morales and was assisted by Sal Pirrotta. Coach Pirrotta was an experienced baseball coach new to Coral Park this year. "The J.V. team played the Varsity squad numerous times, and in my opinion the J.V. had a very fine team," stated Coach Pirrotta.

The team was under a severe handicap because they lacked their own practice field, therefore they practiced on Saturdays, and used the field during the week whenever the Varsity players were away. "Knowing we had the potential to be great, is why we worked so hard," added John Jaen, J.V. baseball player.

Varsity baseball acquires a new head-coach

This year's Varsity Baseball squad, led by coach Sal Pirrotta played exceptionally well throughout the season. Returning players Obie Canseco, Jose Canseco, Santi Alonso, and Victor Contreras were the leading players of the team. "This year's team has had a lot of opportunity to improve itself with the help of coach Pirrotta," stated Andy Maristany, Varsity baseball player.

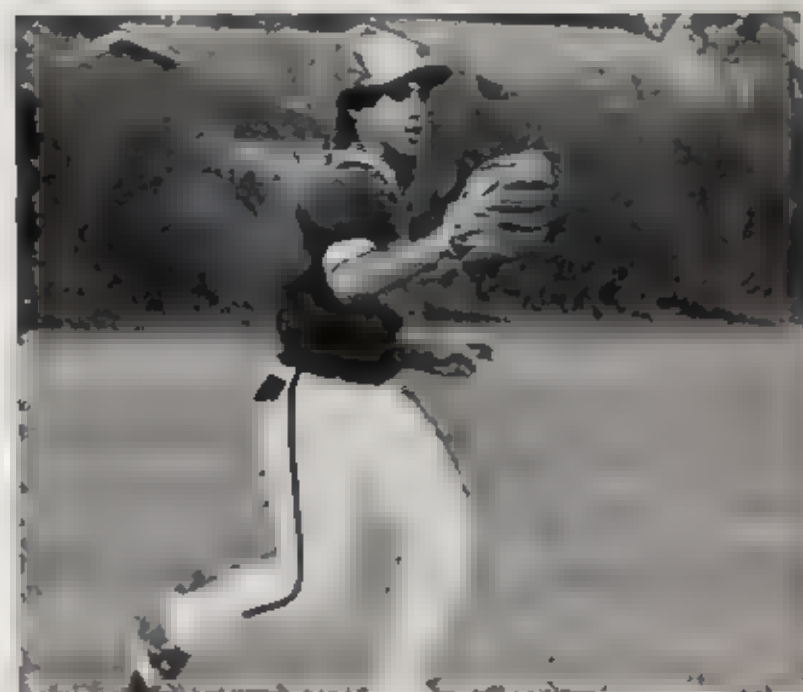

Tryouts were held in mid-November to find qualified players. Once they were chosen, they began practicing everyday after school until the season began in February. "After the first tournament at Southridge, we began to hit the ball. With our pitching and defensive play put together, the batting gave us the winning edge throughout the entire season," commented senior, Jose Canseco

Raci Sanchez catches the ball and puts his right arm under the glove to secure the catch

Jose Canseco prepares to intercept any ball that may come in the direction of third base

Santi Alonso runs to cut the ball off to prevent the runner from getting extra-bases on a single base hit

Young team looks forward to successful future.

Even though the girl's basketball team had a record of 1 win and 7 losses, the team had a strong desire to improve. "We are a very spirited team. We all love to play the game," stated Senior Carmen Perea. "I think the main reason for the team's poor record is the lack of experience," also continued Carmen

"We were a young team, so it took a little longer for us to work together, but we got better as the season went on," stated Coach Jose Arias

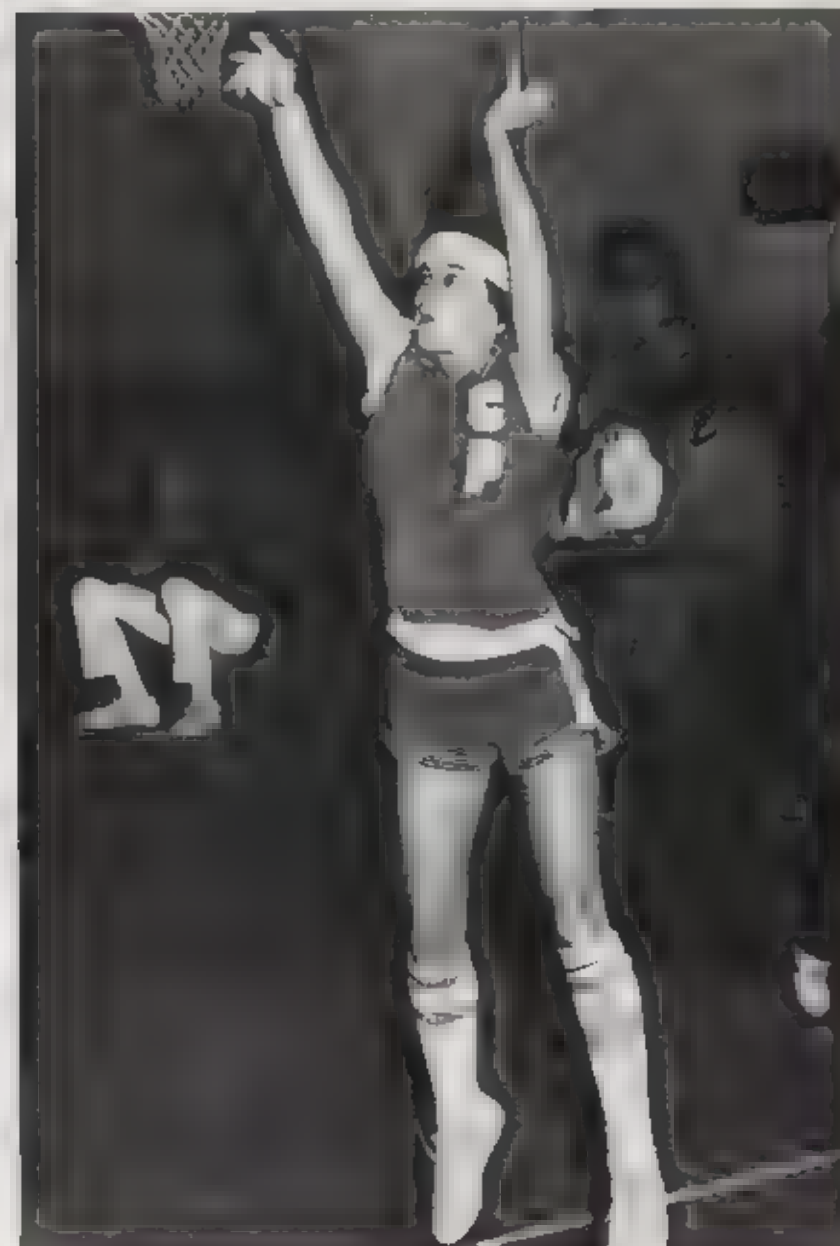

Key players were Ana Lam and Mercy Lam. Top in rebounds was Emma Grau. "The team's future looks bright because they know a lot more for next year," stated Captain Emma Grau

Raymond Saller is awaiting the referee's whistle before he throws the ball to one of his teammates and resumes play

"We had thirteen junior varsity basketball players, all of them with a lot of basketball experience. I really appreciated the effort they put into their practices because they were very easy to work with," said Ron Berg, j.v. coach.

The j.v. team had a successful season. They could not have done it without the help of their most valuable players, Carlos Chiu, Juan Lageyre and Practices were held every school day for at least four hours daily. "The team came a long way, but it did not develop to its full potential. As we played more games, we became a lot better and our offense was best from the outside. The defense matured steadily all year long," said Raymond Saller, defensive guard.

Raymond Saller

Varsity Basketball relies on experience

"The basketball team made tremendous improvement this year, due to the fact that we had better players and most importantly, experience," stated Coach Edward Joyner. "The most improved were Joe Beiro, Arsenio Arabitz and Fernando Casadevall. Also the players coming from the junior varsity team such as George Greone, Manny Creijo and Ralph Suarez brought a winning attitude," continued Edward Joyner. "Without these ingredients, it would have been difficult to continue on the road to a solid program," concluded Coach Joyner.

Claudio Saez was center for the team but suffered an unfortunate accident. "Since the basketball injury I sustained due to a practice drill, I was immobilized and could not play. I was at most of the games this year and saw a definite improvement," stated Claudio Saez.

Bowling Team strikes another strong season

The boys bowling team played ten matches this year. Their record was 7-4-1 during the regular season. Leading bowlers for the boys were George Cruz, with a 185 average, Rudy Villanueva, with a 171 average and Neil Deutsch, with a 170 average. "Our team played consistently all year long and our record reflects it," stated Junior Ignacio Murga.

The girls bowling team won all of their regular season matches. They finished the year with a 13-1 record. "It was not a surprise for the team, we knew that we had the capability to out-bowl most of the other teams," commented Junior Becky Harmon. The two leading bowlers for the girls were Vicki Goodman, with a 154 average and Becky Harmon with a 148 average.

Varsity Football demands a strong character

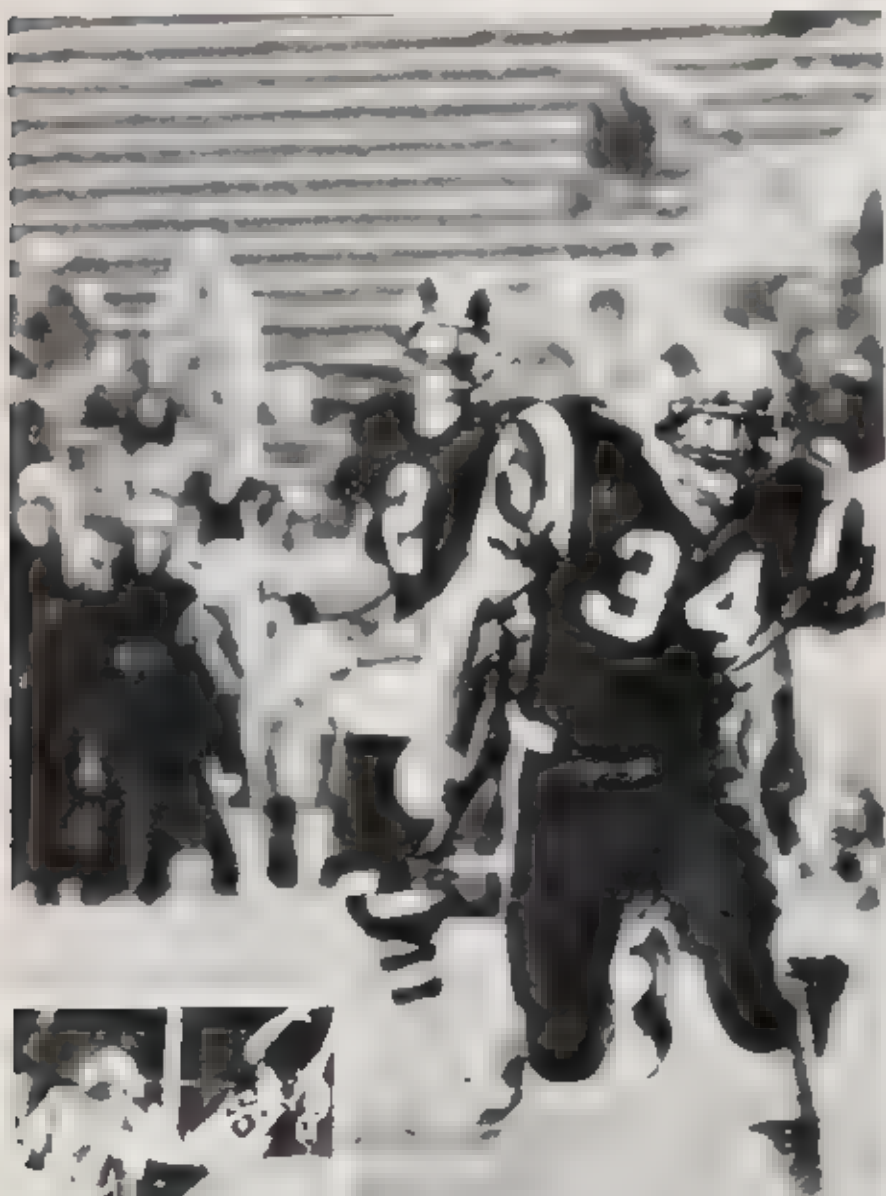

The varsity football team opened its season with a stunning victory over the Southwest Eagles 13-3. After this, the team was unsuccessful until the Homecoming game on November 19. They defeated the Miami High Stingarees 17-14. Throughout the season, the offense was led by seniors Randy Perkins, quarterback, and Doug Carillo, running back. "It was a frustrating season, but we hung in there. All of us, including the coaches, just kept doing the best we could," stated Doug Carillo.

The defense, led by returning seniors Paquico Tellechea and Eddie Hernandez, was faulty in the beginning. "They weren't aggressive enough to go for the win," commented Pat Newbold, Defensive Coordinator. "Through it all the players maintained a winning attitude. They were proud to represent the Coral Park varsity football team," Newbold concluded

The golf team was headed by coach R. Kuehnelsen. There were four seniors on the team, Jose Mendez, Victor Fernandez, Harry Fritz and Fermin Iturrioz. One junior, Scott Geltzer, and one sophomore, Enrique Persuelas. "The size of our team shows that many people still believe in the myth that says: golf is a boring sport. It is far from that. The realism of knowing that an entire match can be won or lost by a single putt is fearsome," stated Senior Jose Mendez.

"Major emphasis was put on putting so that during the pressure situations on the green we were able to control the direction and speed of the ball which allowed for better accuracy," commented Senior Victor Fernandez.

Tellechea.

The outstanding senior players were defenders Eddie Steifel and Saul Rivera along with forward Francisco Tellechea as chosen by their coach. # Girls Soccer struggles under new head coach

The girls' soccer team completed their fifth year of varsity competition under the direction of first year coach, Lou Confessore. The team ended its season with a 1-7-1 record. "Senior players Kelly Yessman, Anna McCarter, Tracy Helenbrook, and Valerie Bryant were outstanding," said Coach Confessore.

"Even though the team's inexperience was a liability, hard work and dedication kept us together," stated senior Kelly Yessman. "It was a rebuilding year for the girls' soccer team which consisted of twelve sophomores. This allowed all of the sophomore players to gain experience. As each game passed, the sophomores kept refining their basic skills, while the team was attaining a uniform style of play. The softball team began their season on Wednesday, February tenth, at Tropical Park. The game was postponed due to poor weather conditions. "We had many delays in our schedule, but that did not bother us. We attempted to play consistently and that was our major objective," stated junior Blanca Portela.

The Lady Rams were led by Head Coach Ofe Hirigoyen and Assistant Coach Glenn Dunn. The team had several returning players including juniors Frances Gil and Blanca Portela, also senior Ana McCarter. "The majority of the team was inexperienced in playing united. Many adjustments were made throughout the season for this team deficiency," commented Junior Daisy Angulo. # Swimming team benefits from a large group

Under the watchful eye of Coach Gene Welsch and Assistant Coach Bob Karl the swimming program enjoyed a very good year. Having to practice in cold weather, did not discourage any of the members on the team. "It strongly proved our commitment to the team and the dedication of all of those that came out each day," stated junior John Kiliddjian.

The team was much larger than in past years. It depended on four top swimmers, Tony Perez, John Kiliddjian, Lewis Hertzberg, and David Medina, as they shaved seconds off their times at practice. "Everyone on the team came out and did their job, because of this we had a successful season," stated Coach Welsch.

Tennis Team benefits from play at the net

This year's tennis team benefitted from the experience gained in previous years. "Both the boys and girls teams had several returning players which solidified the team," stated senior Paul Czerniak. "The key to the boy's season was its play at the net. The boys were able to play net well enough to force mistakes by the opposing players," concluded Czerniak.

The girl's team was anchored by Maria Moreno. "The girls' serves really improved this year and this improved the caliber of our team," commented Moreno. Coach Vincent Maury believes that enthusiasm contributed to the team's better play. "Overall it was a successful season for the team. The experience, that was lacking this year, was gained by almost every member on the team. More than half of the members should be back next year. Structurally speaking, we should have a better team next year for this reason," commented junior Kevin Kaufman. Girl's Track opened their season in mid-February after weeks of practice everyday. They ran 3 to 5 miles daily and then broke up into groups to work on individual track skills. In these groups they worked on long and short distance running, hurdles, field events, and speed. "Track has taught me to be self-disciplined in something that I will need all my life," commented senior Gaby Hasbun.

This year's team has few members, so they had to be proficient in many events for the meets. The team placed more emphasis on individual skills rather than as a team effort. "The team was more individual this year. Everyone worked for their own self betterment," stated Lourdes Blanco.

Many of the players felt that an improved defense, led by Marie Moreno, was the backbone of the team." The ability to save spiked balls and low serves was extremely crucial to our game," stated senior Luisa Fernandez.

Varsity Wrestlers pin rivals in record time

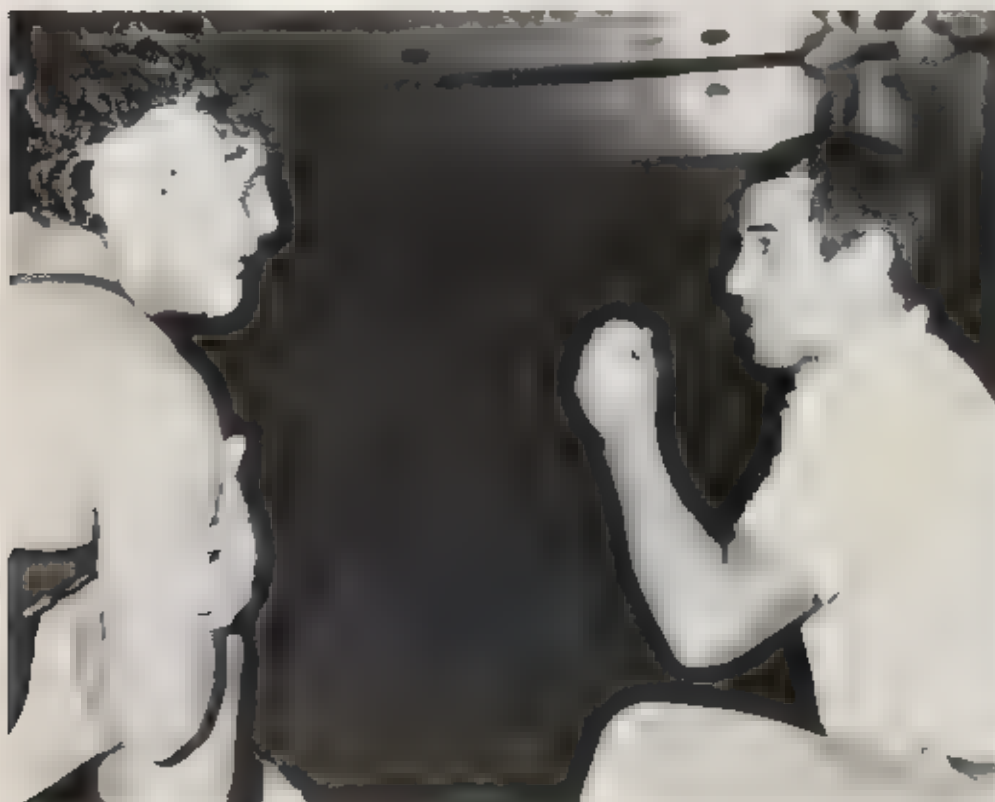

The Varsity Wrestling team brought a long awaited, successful season to Coral Park. They started their season with a win over Miami High, 65 to 7. Senior, Juan Cuervo pinned his opponent in 30 seconds, the fastest pin in five years.

"The wrestling squad has done an excellent job this year. I enjoyed working with them," stated assistant coach Steve Serotte. "The outstanding leaders were seniors, Gus Dela Hoz, David Abdo, Paul Fehl, and Alfredo Montanez," said Coach Lopez the senior Ram wrestler coach. They paved the road for athletes like Jose Santana, Tony Gonzalez, and Pedro Davila. These young men will now become the backbone for next year's team," continued Coach Lopez.

Raul Leal goes for the take down at the beginning of his wrestling match against Jackson Senior High School

Rolando Lopez gives a few pointers to Pedro Davilla during a time out. Pedro went on to win his heavy weight match

Paul Fehl goes for the pin at a match in the school gym. Paul succeeds to pin him late in the second period

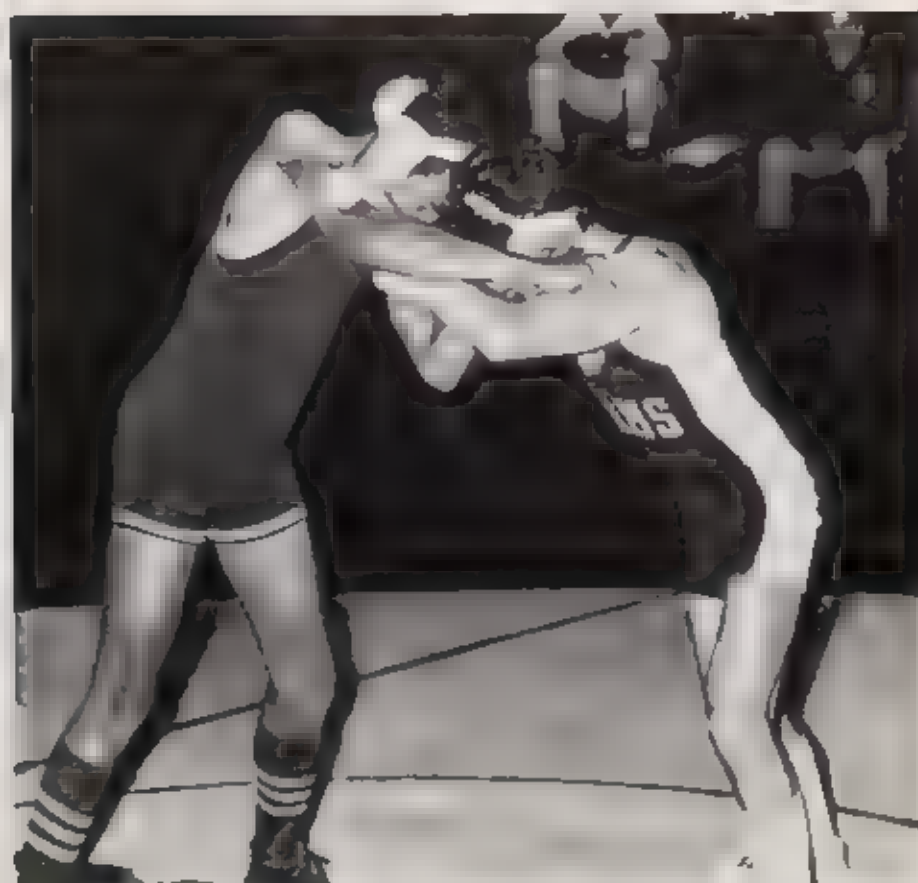

David Abdo looks over to the opposing team as he raises his arm to show a Ram victory

Gus Dela Hoz takes down his man from Jackson early in a match in front of the Coral Park students. Gus went on to defeat him.

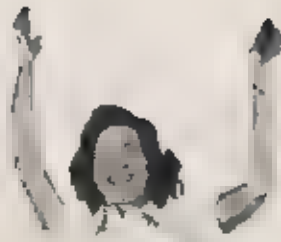

At the beginning of his match, Raul Leal sets up to bring down his opponent in order to get two points, so he can continue and win.

Media provides useful means of communication

Many students remembered the activities and clubs in which they took part throughout high school. The activities office served as a student information center, in addition to sponsoring Halloween Happenings in October, Homecoming Week in November, Spirit Week and a multitude of other functions. Activities help students to gain experience in the development of leadership and responsibility.

Librarians, Rosemarie Ferry and June Inman kept the library in order throughout the busy year. "Because of the new requirements, English teachers gave out more assignments associated with research in addition to the annual research papers," said Miss Inman. The librarians also updated college handbooks and added new universities to that section.

Administration gets involved in student activities

The administration took an active role in Coral Park's student's activities this past year. Aside from regular responsibilities, they attended several football games and other athletic and extra-curricular activities performed by students. This year the administration attempted to improve the school's image. They sought to improve the attendance by enforcing new school board policy. They also implemented the new state law which allows teachers to fail any student who has more than five unexcused absences.

"We think this school is the best and we want to take the initiative to keep it there," said principal Dan Wagner.

F.B.L.A. reaches a high of 500 new members

In order to help us in this ever-progressing world of business, the Business Education Department began teaching courses in data processing and computer technology. "We have installed five new computers for students to use," said Chairperson Mae Chewning.

Business teachers got their students involved by expanding the Future Business Leaders of America. "This year we reached a high of 500 members spread among the various teachers," said sponsor Bobbie Weber. F.B.L.A. students attended many field trips and seminars. They also went to a convention late in the year. The business education teachers go out of their way to give their students an accurate idea of the business world.

Clerical staff regulates Coral Park business

Divia Borrego
Attendance Clerk

Without people to handle the documents and piles of paperwork, a school could not function. It was the duty of the clerical personnel to see that these records were kept accurately and up-to-date. Clerical personnel compiled the attendance rolls, maintained a list of all students who were registered, assisted with scheduling and monitored all of the school's financial transactions.

With the help of a new computer system the secretary in charge of attendance kept track of each student's records. She published a daily list of the students who were not in school. The secretaries also checked on absent students and encouraged daily attendance.

In the Special Education Department, the key word was "individualization". Students concentrated on the particular areas in which they were deficient. The teachers worked to improve the proficiency of the students in their problem subjects and checked on their progress in other classes.

Students in the cooperative education program took a one hour class which taught them basic manners while on the job, how to fill out job applications, and basic business math. This program gave the students the opportunity to go to school, accumulate credits, and earn money while going to school.

Foreign Language sees need for multilingualism

Foreign Language Department recognized the need for students to know as many languages as possible. "The President's Commission on Foreign Languages concluded that America's status as a world leader is unsure because Americans do not know second languages," said Maureen Bodea, French teacher. To counter this deficiency, the Foreign Language Department assumed a more vigorous curriculum. The department offered courses in French, Spanish, and Italian. "One can see the need for a strong background in foreign languages by stepping out into our city. Miami is an international trade zone, businesses such as banks will pay bilingual employees much more than they will those who are monolingual," continued Mrs. Bodea.

Counselors play a major role in students' futures

The Guidance Department was an integral part of our educational system. The counselors played a major role when it came to a student's future. Not only did they hand out schedule changes and college applications, but they helped students make difficult decisions on what career to choose.

The counselors also helped students make the best of the school's curriculum. "We try to put students in courses that are relevant to the student's goals," said counselor Geraldine Davis.

A counselor's job never ends, whether it was advice about college, or guidance on personal problems, it was comforting to know that there was always someone in the guidance office ready to help.

Language Arts improves students' writing skills

The Language Arts Department fulfilled the task set by the Dade County School Board by reducing class sizes for twelfth grade to 100 students for every twelfth grade English teacher. Teachers had time to grade papers so that they could improve writing skills.

The department offered three different levels of English: remedial, regular, and honors classes. The purpose of this was to place students in a course which best suits their learning capacities. The department also improved the curriculum of elective courses. Three new courses: speech, creative writing, and world literature were adopted. This gave students interested in other fields of Language Arts a wider selection of courses from which to choose.

The Math Department, under the direction of Mrs. Hazel McLendon continued to elevate its standards. This year math teachers made an effort to improve the quality of the department. For instance, the department put together booklets to replace the old worksheets in the math review courses. The department also offered more courses in regular Algebra II, along with the Honors Algebra courses. For more accelerated students, Advanced Placement Calculus was taught. "All in all we accomplished the goal we had set, which was to make a general improvement in our math program," continued Mrs. McLendon

Performing and Visual Arts establishes crafts

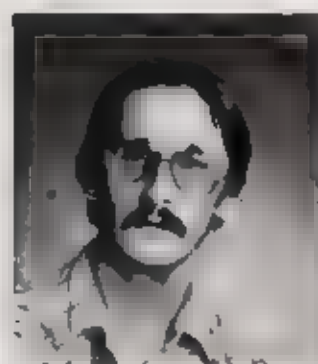

Joyce Murphy

The Performing and Visual Arts Department consisted of a variety of courses ranging from band and chorus to drafting and wood shop. Many arts and crafts students involved in wood crafts, ceramics, and drafting participated in the Dade County Youth Fair in March. The students' projects were judged on neatness, quality of craftsmanship, originality, and total effect.

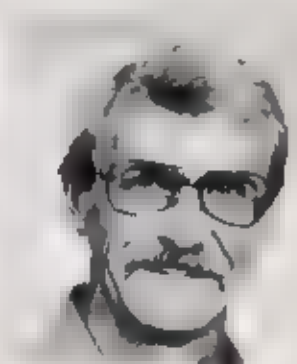

The marching band also participated in many contests. The band received an excellent rating in "The Celebration of the Great Bands", a marching band competition, in November. The bands were judged on discipline, playing, marching and general effect.

Coaches stress physical fitness during class

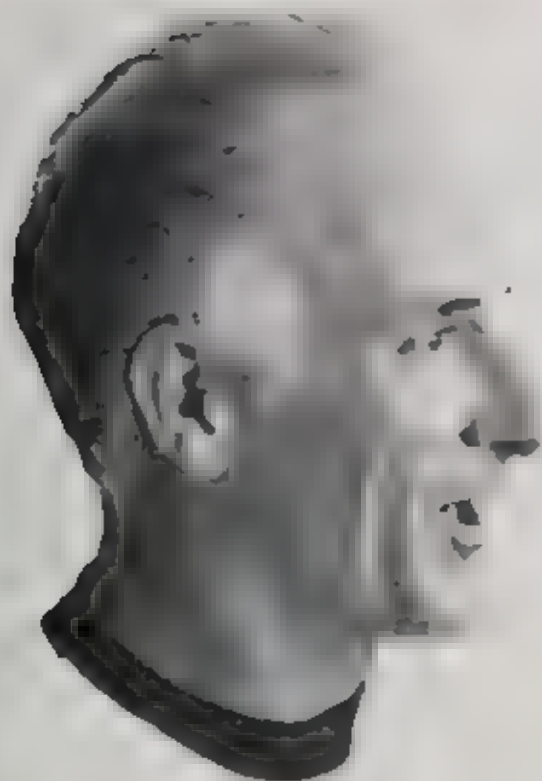

Nancy Perez

Coral Park physical education teachers stressed physical activity during their classes. PE. teachers tried to make the classes more physical than recreational. "The Physical Education program is designed to build healthier and more fit individuals," said Chairman Lloyd Parker.

Running, bar work, rope jumping, leg stretches, and rope climbing were among the many different activities in which students participated. Classes consisted of a variety of different lifetime sports such as football, volleyball, soccer, tennis, and weightlifting. Students also had the opportunity to participate in a variety of intramural sports both during and after school.

The Science Department offered a spectrum of classes and programs to stimulate and challenge the individual student's varied interests. An advanced research program was offered to students who worked after school with professional scientists in laboratory related experiments. Classes such as biology, chemistry, and physics were given on different levels to fit the student's needs.

Students and faculty work through interest clubs, honor societies, and classes to extend the program into the community. The faculty and many students are involved in activities outside the school so that the individuals as well as the overall program benefit.

The Social Studies Department attempted to involve students in community affairs. Led by Ofelia Hirigoyen's Close-Up class, the department participated in a voter registration drive and in the Crime Watch Program.

"I feel that getting my students involved in these affairs is more important than teaching them the three branches of government because that is what government is all about, getting involved," said Ms. Hirigoyen. The department also offered a variety of levels for students such as regular honors and advanced placement in courses such as history and government.

OUR

IT'S

HERE!

We have concluded that our time is now!!! The best time. The time when teenagers who attend Coral Park and live in Miami are at their best; physically, mentally and socially.

Physically: Now is the time when we are physically fit. Girls and guys are healthy, athletic and take time to stay in shape. At this time in our lives we feel and look great.

Mentally: Now is the time when we are carefree and void of obligations and responsibilities. Never again in our lives will we have time to spend aimlessly.

Socially: Now is the ultimate time we have to spend with our friends. We are on the go; rocking the town, hanging out at football games, crashing parties, soaking in the sun, etc. We are spending a great deal of our time socially involved in and out of school.

In selecting our theme we considered various choices. Our theme . . . It's here! It's now! . . . prevailed among the rest. We feel that this theme holds true for all teenagers and pertains to our school. To us, Coral Park is at its best — right now!

Throughout the book we have used jumpers to express the excitement and happiness of those students who believe that this is truly the best time of our lives.

In the opening of the yearbook we have illustrated our means of communicating via books, megs, telephone, blimp. We hope you heard our theme through these means, but we especially hope that you perceive our theme with the 1982 edition of the Arion yearbook.

IT'S NOW!!!

THEME:

ASSASSINATIONS!

Many surprising events have occurred all over the world. They happen around us while we make our way through high school. It is important to recognize and to keep the memory of these events locked away in our minds. Assassinations of high officials occurred in abundance during 1981-82. This year marks the first time a woman was to become a member of the Supreme Court. A troublesome baseball strike as well as Air Traffic Controllers can not be forgotten. World events bring us to a better understanding of why our teen years are the best time of our lives.

MIAMI EVENTS

Many events took place in Miami during our school year. They are happening now! Events such as the opening of the new Metro Zoo, the Dolphin football team making the playoffs, the King Orange Bowl Parade and many others. These events will stand out in our minds when we think back on the best years of our lives.

Memories make your best years special. Coral Park is full of memories. No one can forget those special events that took place this year. Seniors will think back on the year that the Health Department cracked down on immunization. Those active in sports will remember making or not making it to championships. These events will linger on in our minds. It's here!

TEACHER OF THE YEAR

*Mrs. Yolanda Kellogg***

Prior to this year, the Teacher of the Year Award was given by the Sorrotta Service Club. This is the first year that the Award was given out by a faculty vote.

Mrs. Yolanda F. Kellogg was chosen the 1982 Teacher of the Year. She has been a French teacher at Miami Coral Park Senior High School since it opened in 1963 and has been head of the Foreign Language Department for about 10 years.

Over the years, Mrs. Kellogg has had students who have received many prestigious awards. "As an educator, Madame Kellogg sets the highest standards for herself and expects nothing less from her students," stated Franklin Elsea, a student in her French IV class.

She is a dedicated teacher, who on a daily basis, works hard both at school and at home. "I've never known anyone who works harder for her students", commented Mrs. Carese McConnell, a friend for many years.

Mrs. Kellogg is well known and respected throughout Dade County as an outstanding teacher of French, this respect is widespread not only through her students, past and present, but also her colleagues, the administration, and the community which she serves.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Mr. Gerald Stone, Advisor
School Yearbook ARIEON

FROM: Dan Wagner, Principal DW
Miami Coral Park Senior High School

SUBJECT: TEACHER OF THE YEAR STATEMENT FOR THE YEARBOOK

I am very happy that Mrs. Yolanda Kellogg has been selected as Teacher of the Year for Miami Coral Park Senior High School. This lady is respected by her students, her colleagues, and the community at large for her excellence in the performance of her job. I am proud to have on this school's staff such a dedicated teacher who embodies the finest qualities of the teaching profession.

This yearbook would not have been possible without the help and cooperation of many people. More hours were spent putting this yearbook together than can possibly be imagined. Outstanding devotion and cooperation on the part of many made this book an accomplishment to be proud of.

Thanks section editors for all your work. A BIG thanks goes to Ana H., Teresa, Jane and Ana D. for their friendship and help through thick and thin. A special thanks to Mr. Stone who now has a few more grey hairs due to our "great ideas." Also we appreciate the patience and cooperation of "special guys." A very sincere thank-you goes to our parents who put up with deadlines, late night work sessions and many other hassles.

An apology goes to our staff for deadline crabs. Thanks for all your work yearbook family: Roll, Janet, Lourdes, Aldo, Maria C., Jesus, Teresa D., Ana D., Tony, Greddy, Caroline, Ana H., Karen, Gabby, Andy, Teresa M., Ana M., Lucy, Gaby, Nivaldo, Jackie, Ivette, Jane, Chip and Luis.
